Bachelor and Doctorate in Mathematics from the University Complutense of Madrid. I have directed the European PhD presented by Javier Álvarez (2008) and the International PhD of Jose Gaintzarain (2012) which received an extraordinary doctorate award of the UPV / EHU. Since 2007, I lead the LoRea research group dedicated to mathematical logic and automatic reasoning, and its applications, both to the verification of programs and reactive systems, and to the treatment of large ontologies. I teach classes in all the training cycles of the Faculty of Informatics. Since 1995, I have been participating in projects financed by public entities, being in many of them the main researcher.
